A new landscape, a new source of inspiration

Artist Statement

Inspired by the beauty of birds, landscape and the weather, my work explores light, space and the essence of the landscape around me and the presence of birds within it. I work on location, gathering sketches and drawings of birds in their natural habitat, and use these as inspiration for work made in the studio.

Having moved from the East Lothian coast to an East Lothian countryside village a year ago, my new focus has been on the hills, fields and birds I have encountered while exploring my new surroundings.

In my studio I used field sketches and memories to create monotypes, which I then drew into with a variety of mixed media materials. This enabled me to engage in a new way to create fresh and exciting new work capturing the essence of this new landscape and my experience in it.
